A SUMMIT TO TAKE ACTION ON ADAPTATION

Climate Chance and the city of Marseille are co-hosting the Climate Chance Europe Africa Summit 2025 on the theme: "Adaptation : taking action", from the 31st of March and 1st of April 2025 at the Palais du Pharo in Marseille.

Two main issues will be at the heart of the discussions in Marseille: Climate change adaptation at local level in Europe and cooperation for adaptation between Europe and Africa.

Building on the actions taken during Climate Chance's first international event dedicated to adaptation, co-organized with Wallonia in 2024, the Climate Chance Europe Africa Summit 2025 aims to go even further. The event will bring together 2,000 participants: representatives from European institutions, major international, European, and national networks of local authorities, businesses, trade unions, NGOs, scientists, and citizens, all mobilised for this milestone event on the 2025 agenda for adaptation.

By the quality and number of its participants, this Summit is set to be, the largest event ever organised in Europe specifically focused on adaptation issues.

OBJECTIVES

- To help strengthen adaptation policies in France and the European Union
- To strengthen dialogue and cooperation between non-state actors involved in adaptation issues
- To strengthen dialogue between Europe and Africa
- To mobilise civil society in Marseille and the surrounding area

ON THE AGENDA

4 main themes

- Deepening our knowledge to enhance the effectiveness of climate adaptation
- Transforming the economy and public action to provide sustainable responses to climate challenges
- Strengthening and developing local adaptation solutions
- Cooperation between Europe and Africa for effective climate adaptation

The Summit will highlight existing adaptation practices and solutions, emphasising the efforts being made locally.

The two-day event will offer a rich programme : 7 plenaries, 30 workshops, a Pitch Corner, and various activities and visits.

300 speakers, high-level experts, and on-the-ground actors are expected.

The summit will also be an opportunity to unveil the results of the first Climate Chance Observatory's Adaptation Action Report in Europe. The Observatory's sectoral analyses will introduce the discussions in several workshops.

ADVOCATING FOR ADAPTATION

- The "Marseille Declaration"

An advocacy document aimed at strengthening Europe-Africa cooperation on climate adaptation, bringing key messages and operational proposals from non-state actors to international stages for consideration by European and African political decision-makers.

- "Action Plan: 50 actions for adaptation in Europe".

An advocacy document for adaptation at local level in Europe: key messages and operational proposals from non-state actors, for European political decision-makers, following on from the collective work begun at the Climate Chance Europe Wallonia Summit, held in Liège in February 2024. These priority actions will be at the heart of the discussions in the 30 workshops of the Summit, organised with the most representative international networks of non-state actors.

These advocacy documents will be presented throughout 2025 during upcoming major events on the international agenda: the Marseille Declaration: On the Road to COP30 in Belém (November 10-21), as well as the Climate Chance Africa Summit, Africities (December 1-5)... The Action Plan: Advocacy Campaign with European institutions and decision-makers. They will be addressed to all key European actors (commissions, governments, parliamentarians...) and the consideration of the Summit's proposals will continue to be monitored by the Climate Chance Observatory.

The Marseille Summit is a crucial moment to strengthen dialogue and exchange between non-state actors (local authorities, businesses, NGOs) and European institutions on adaptation issues.

OPENING PLENARY - EUROPE REGARDING ADAPTATION: WHERE ARE WE AT?

Facing climate and geopolitical upheavals, Europe must accelerate its adaptation to ensure resilience and competitiveness. High level decision-makers and experts will take stock of current policies, challenges, and innovative solutions for a sustainable future. Has Europe really taken the turn towards adaptation, and what role does multi-stakeholder action play?

Welcoming speakers :

- Ronan Dantec, Loire-Atlantique Senator, President of Climate Chance
- Benoît Payan, Mayor of Marseille
- Thani Mohamed Soilihi, Minister in charge of the French-speaking world and international partnerships, France

Where are we at ?

- Current adaptation policies in Europe : key takeaways from the Observatory's report on action
- State of public opinion : Presentation of the EIB's climate survey by Grégoire Chauvrière Le Drian, Representative of France from the European Investment Bank (EIB)

Multi-stakeholders panel discussion : Has Europe really taken the turning point in adaptation, will it move forward on common benchmarks, multi-level integrated policies and strengthened local support?

Multi-actor debate moderated by

- Evelyne Huytebroeck, former Belgian Minister of Environment and Energy

Opening :

- Teresa Ribera, European Commission Executive Vice-President

Reactions from non-state actors:

Local government representatives:

- Joško Klisović, President of the Zagreb assembly, member of the European Committee of the Regions
- Saïd Omar Oili, Senator of Mayotte

Private sector:

- Patrick Martin, MEDEF President (TBC)
- Antoine Denoix, CEO, AXA Climate
- Representative of La Poste Group

Union representative:

- Ludovic Voet, Confederal secretary, European Trade Union Confederation (ETUC)

NGOs:

- Sven Harmeling, Climate action director at Climate Action Network (CAN) Europe
- Valeria Peláez Cardona, Gender and Climate Coordinator, WECF Deutschland

Researcher:

- Jean-François Soussana, President of the High Council for climate

Reactions to the roundtable:

- Sophie Murlon, Director General of Energy and Climate at the Ministry of Ecology, Energy, Territories
- Martin Spolc, Head of Unit "Adaptation & Resilience to Climate Change", DG for Climate Action, European Commission
- Corina Andrea Murafa Benga, Member of the EESC; co-founder of the Romanian Observatory on Energy Poverty (ORSE)
- Marc-Oliver Heidkamp, Attaché, Member of the Cabinet of Klaus-Heiner Lehne, European Court of Auditors

CLOSING PLENARY - STRENGTHENING EUROPE-AFRICA COOPERATION ON ADAPTATION: THE MARSEILLE DECLARATION

This high-level conference marks a decisive step in strengthening the links between Europe and Africa regarding adaptation challenges. The Marseille Declaration embodies a common commitment to concrete actions, strengthened solidarity and sustainable cooperation in support of local resilience. Collectively developed, it will provide a common and ambitious voice at COP30 in Belém.

Introduction words, keynote speaker

- Paul Watson, founder of Sea Shepherd Conservation Society

Feedback on the workshops, the Action Plan

- Ronan Dantec, Loire-Atlantique Senator, Climate Chance President

Next steps

- Sylvain Boucherand, rapporteur on the EESC's +4° opinion
- Gilles Vermot-Desroches, Chief Citizenship officer, Schneider Electric
- Petra Manderscheid, Executive Director of the central secretariat of JPI Climate, organising committee ECCA2025 (TBC)
- Vasileios Latinos, Head of Resilience and Climate Adaptation at ICLEI Europe
- A representative from the Franco-Quebecois Youth Office

Speech

- Agnès Pannier-Runacher, Minister of the Ecological Transition, France

Presentation and adoption of the Marseille declaration on strengthening Europe-Africa cooperation on adaptation

- Michèle Rubirola, Deputy Mayor of the city of Marseille

"The Marseille Declaration marks a step in strengthening the links between Europe and Africa regarding adaptation challenges. It presents proposals for enhanced solidarity and sustainable and fair cooperation, particularly at the local level."

Multi-stakeholder roundtable moderated by Luc Gnacadja, former Executive Secretary of the UN Convention to Combat Desertification, former Minister of the Environment, Habitat and Urban planning of Benin

- Lionel Zinsou, Former Prime Minister of Benin (TBC)
- Fatimatou Mint Abdel Malick, President of UCLG-Africa, President of the Nouakchott region, Mauritania

EUROPE AT +4°C: CAN SCIENTISTS EXPLAIN IT?

At +4°C, Europe will face unprecedented disruptions: prolonged heatwaves, water crises, agricultural losses, and strained infrastructure...

But how far can science go? Do we have the tools today to understand, anticipate, and translate these changes into concrete adaptation strategies? This conference will bring together experts, researchers, and climatologists to assess the current state of knowledge, explore possible scenarios, and examine the limits of our understanding.

- Virginie Schwarz, CEO of Meteo France
- Christophe Béchu, Former Minister for the Ecological Transition and Cohesion of the Territories of France, Mayor of Angers
- Christophe Cassou, Climatologist, Research Director at the CNRS, at the laboratory Climat Environnement Couplage & Incertitude of the Cerfacs (European Centre for Research and Advanced Training in Scientific Computing, Toulouse)
- François Gemenne, FNRS Researcher, Chairman of the Scientific Council of the Foundation for Nature and Man
- Bettina Laville, Honorary Chair, Comité 21
- Elina Bardram, Director of the Adaptation and Resilience Unit, Communication and Civil Society Relations at the CLIMA Directorate-General of the European Commission
- Jean-François Soussana, President of the High Council for Climate, INRAE International Advisor
- Ronan Dantec, President of Climate Chance

ADAPTING OUR ENERGY SYSTEMS TO CLIMATE CHANGE

As climate change intensifies with extreme events and the need to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, the energy system—particularly electricity—faces new challenges and crucial decisions with significant financial consequences. What are the key priorities? What technical and economic solutions are needed? How do we align these efforts with the European level? These are critical questions for the future, affecting everything from our daily lives to the strength of our economy.

- Olga Givernet, former Deputy Minister for Energy, deputy for Ain
- Sébastien Barles, deputy mayor of Marseille in charge of the ecological transition
- Jean-Yves Grandidier, President and founder of Valorem
- Thimothée Macé Dubois, Head of Institutional Affairs at Schneider Electric France
- Corina Andrea Murafa Benga, Expert attached to the Centre for the Study of Democracy (CSD) and co-founder of the Romanian Observatory on Energy Poverty (ORSE), member of the EESC
- Claire Roumet, Strategic partnerships and overall coordination, Energy Cities
- Laurence Tommasino, General Delegate of GERES

LIVING WITH HEAT: INSPIRING AFRICAN SOLUTIONS

Faced with rising global temperatures, African cities are at the forefront of managing climate change impacts. This plenary session will highlight the public policies established by African local authorities to address this issue, particularly in the areas of adaptation to extreme temperatures, management of natural resources, resilience of territories and vulnerable economic sectors. It will present and exchange on the concrete initiatives implemented by local communities to improve the resilience of populations to the impacts of heat and climate phenomena.

- Anne Hidalgo, President of the International Association of Francophone Mayors (AIMF), Mayor of Paris
- Michèle Rubirola, Deputy to the Mayor of Marseille, member of the AIMF Board
- Ebyte Emine, Advisor for Cooperation, Nouakchott Region
- Luc Sètonджи Atkropo, Mayor of Cotonou, President of the National Association of Communes of Benin
- Omar Houssein Omar, President of the Regional Council of Tadjourah, President of the National Association of Local Authorities of Djibouti (tbc)
- Cécile Martin-Phipps, Director of the Institut de la Francophonie pour le Développement Durable (IFDD)
- Brilé Anderson, Climate, Urbanization and Environment Programme Manager, OECD
- Coffi Aholou, Director of CERVIDA
- Frédéric Vallier, General Delegate of the International Association of Francophone Mayors (AIMF)

THE INSURANCE SECTOR FACING CLIMATE RISKS

As climate disasters intensify, the insurance sector faces challenges to its economic model.

How can the sector evolve without compromising risk pooling and collective solidarity, which are fundamental to insurance?

How should funding be divided between damage compensation and risk prevention? Is there a more effective European model for creating a resilient and inclusive framework?

- Philippe Henry, Member of the Walloon Parliament, Senator, Member of the Wallonia-Brussels Federation, Vice-President and Minister for Climate, Energy and Mobility (tbc)
- François Lanaëvre, Director of Strategic Partnerships, AXA Climate
- Luc Bas, Director of the Belgian Centre for Climate Risk Assessment
- Bernard Soulage, Secretary General, Climate Chance

ADVANCING CLIMATE CHANGE ADAPTATION STRATEGY FOR BUSINESSES

In October 2023, the ACT initiative released the ACT Adaptation method after two years of development, including a pilot phase with 13 companies. Based on this, the workshop will examine the progress of a few pilot companies in their adaptation plans since the conclusion of the pilot phase and explain how they are accelerating their adaptation strategies.

- Elise Bon, Director of Environment, VINCI Autoroutes
- Ken Guilhaux, Climate and Purchasing Manager, Entreprises pour l'Environnement (EpE)
- Romain Poivet, Climate and Energy Engagement Lead, World Benchmarking Alliance (WBA)
- Patrick Martin, Medef President (tbc)
